Preliminary Assessment of Appropriate Codes to Apply to the Planning and Design of the Proposed California Health Care Facilities

Design, construction and operation of secure health care facilities to accommodate individuals currently confined by CDCR is heavily regulated by law. In developing the Facility Program Statement, the statutes and regulations listed in this appendix are among those which directly govern these activities or which were consulted to provide guidance. In addition to the statutes and regulations that are listed, other requirements that are largely procedural or that would overly restrict the development of a new design and operational paradigm for secure health care facilities have been waived by Judge Thelton Henderson.

Finally, there are laws and regulations of general applicability that have not been listed here.

Presented below is a preliminary assessment and identification of codes or professional standards that have been used in the programming and planning of these CHCFs. The evaluation of appropriate codes and regulations will continue to be an ongoing effort, to ensure that the planning and design approach is a prudent one that allows the Receiver to provide a constitutional minimum level of care.

As the IPD teams continue with their design efforts, further scrutiny will be done on existing and proposed codes or professional guidelines to provide an assurance that the space and operational parameters being used for design are valid and appropriate.

The following resources were used for the development of space and program requirements stated in the FPS:

- Standards for Adult Correctional Institutions, 4th Edition, as promulgated by the American Correctional Association, and the 2008 Standards Supplement.
- Performance-Based Standards for Correctional Health Care in Adult in Adult Correctional Institutions, 1st Edition, as promulgated by the American Correctional Association, and the 2008 Standards Supplement.
- 2007 California Building Code (having substantial material from the 2006 International Building Code, Second Printing which is a copyrighted work owned by the International Code Council, Inc.).
- Guidelines: (utilized as a comparative reference, rather than a source of specific requirements).
- California Department of Corrections (and Rehabilitation) Space Standards, 4/15/1986 edition, and 1994 revisions: (utilized as a comparative reference, rather than a source of specific requirements).
- ADA Accessibility Guidelines for Buildings and Facilities (ADAAG), as amended through September of 2002.
